Tsuruga's ramen scene: Evolving and expanding with the times

The area along National Route 8, stretching from Tsuruga Station to the Kehi Jingu Shrine intersection, is affectionately known as "Tsuruga Yatai Ramen Street." In the past, many yatai (ramen stalls) lined this road, serving up comforting bowls of ramen to railway workers, truck drivers, and travelers passing through Tsuruga.

Today, that yatai culture continues to thrive. From traditional yatai and food trucks to local restaurants, the area now offers a wide variety of ramen styles to enjoy.

Take a stroll along this street and discover the rich flavors and enduring spirit of Tsuruga's ramen culture.
